

ITALIAN OPERA IN ENGLISH IS HEARD

Col. Henry W. Savage's Forces Begin a Five Weeks' Season in Harlem by Rendering Verdi's "Othello."

COMPANY WELL RECEIVED.

Gertrude Rennyson as Desdemona and Mr. Goff as Iago Carry Off the Honors—"Carmen" Will Be Presented To-Night.

Harlem had Italian opera in English last night. At the West End Theatre Henry W. Savage's English Grand Opera Company began a season of five weeks with Verdi's "Othello." The theatre was well filled by an audience that never lost a chance to show its appreciation of music and words.

The novelty of "Othello" in English may have been the reason for the enthusiasm of the audience, which called the singers to the front again and again.
The performance went smoothly from the start. Mr. Goff, who played the role of the smiling, damned, smiling villain, was easily the strongest of the company. As Othello Mr. Sheehan over-acted. There was a little too much of the fine frenzy and the strut that goes with grand opera and which seemed strangely accentuated with the libretto in English. The pantomime effect was just what Rennyson was the Desdemona.
As the play goes she was smothered in the end.

If the opening last night can be taken as an index the season will be a successful one. "Carmen" will be given tonight.

Openings Elsewhere.

Pay Templeton was recalled again and again for her clever imitations in "The Runaways," at the Grand. There was an immense house.

At the Harlem Opera-House, Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott, in "The Light That Failed," drew a fine audience.

Many a man who saw Charles Warner in "Drunk" at the Murray made a mental note to do something on New Year's.

A really nice, deserving young woman was "Deserted at the Altar" in Proctor's "The Queen of the Night." She was stolen and carried off, she couldn't rest, at the Metropolitan.

Every one who witnessed "The Evil Men Do," at the Star, could feel himself riding around in the 1000 automabile which is to be given away Saturday night.

"Over Niagara Falls" caused hair to stand on end at the Third Avenue.
The Joy Grass Widows" saw several of their ex-husbands in the audience at the Lowry.

There was no mistaking the air of travel about the Trans-Atlantic Burlesques at Miner's Eighth Avenue Theatre.

Established Attractions.
Maude Adams, in "The Pretty Sister of Jose," began her last two weeks at the Empire.

"Three Little Maids" will say good-by at the Garden on Saturday night, and sell for Australia. Eleanor Roussin, in "Merely Mary Ann," comes on Monday.

William Faversham and Hilda Spong, in "Lord and Lady Algy," will conclude their engagement at the Criterion this week, and Augustus Thomas' new comedy, "The Other Girl," will be seen there the following Tuesday.

Maxine Elliott and "Her Own Way" will this week leave the Star where Clyde Fitch's "Glad of It" will have its premiere on Monday.

"Whitewashing Julia," at the Garrick, and Mme. Wiehe and the French company at the Vaudeville will go on tour at the end of a fortnight.

"The Marriage of Kitty," at the Hudson, has developed into a financial honeymoon for Marie Toner and William Gillette in "The Admirable Crichton," at the Lyceum, continues to draw like a porous plaster.

"The Girl from Ray's" has entered upon its third month at the Herald Square.

It will do you good to see "The Country Chairman," at Wallace's.
About the showiest show in town is "Monsieur Napoleon," in which Anna Held is appearing at the Knickerbocker.
Shure, and "Sweet Kitty Bellairs," hasn't a word of complaint to offer at Belasco's. Neither do the audiences.

"Mother Goose," the big Drury Lane spectacle at the New Amsterdam, and Babes in Toyland, at the Majestic are going hand-in-hand with the holiday spirit. Presents will be given children attending the holiday matinees at the Majestic.

Charles Richman continues to lead a double life in "Captain Barrington" at the Manhattan.
Fritz Scheff's success in "Babette" at the Broadway ought to make this the merriest Christmas she has ever known.
Ethel Barrymore in "Cousin Kate" is to succeed "A Japanese Nightingale" at Daly's next week.

In two weeks Frank Dallets and "The Office Boy" will make way at the Victor for Deekstader's Minstrels.

"Whop-De-Do!" and "Waffles" will make a good mixture at Weber & Fields.

Grace Van Studdford, in "Red Feather," began her last two weeks at the Lyric.

There's lots of catchy music in "The Girl from Dixie," at the Madison Square.

Kyrle Bellows, in "Raffles" and "The Sacrament of Judas," has started on his ninth week at the well-established Everybody seems to like Paula Edwards in "Winsome Winnie" at the Casino.

Bertha Galland's success in "Dorothy Version of Haddon Hall" at the New York appears to be well-established.
Robert B. Mantell, who is playing the Corsican Brothers, concludes his engagement at the Fourteenth Street Theatre on Saturday night.

"Our New Minister," at the American, has apparently come to stay.
"Way Down East" is proving as popular as ever at the Academy.

Vaudeville Features.
"In Paris" is the name of a foreign novelty shown at Keith's. Two handsome French women pose in spectacular tableaux, showing phases of Parisian life during the Exposition of 1900. Frank Keanan and company appeared in "White Actor and the Count," and "The Awakening of Popsy" and "The Awakening of Ned Wayburn's Minstrel Misses" tried the tambourine and rattled the bones at the Circle. Other features at the Johnston, the Joseph Maxwell company of singers, Press Eldridge and Macart's Monkeys.

The Red Bird appeared in an amusing sketch, "Dodging the Dodger," at Tony Pastor's and others on the bill were the Orpheus Comedy Four, Gus Williams and La Belle Blanche.

The Gaiety Grads in their Gaiety and drill formed the feature at Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, and Bailey and Madison, knockabout comedians, also came in for a good share of applause. At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre Augustus Thomas' charming play "Alabama" was presented by the stock company. "Monte Cristo" was played at the house in Harlem, "Wurmwood's Monkeys" furnished the "feature" act at the Newark Theatre.

Punny little Adolph Zirk kept the crowd at Huntig & Season's in a roar.
Others on an excellent bill were Girard and Gardner, the Musical Dumonts, Mistley and Carlisle and Masius and Masius.

A good bill was offered at the Com-ry Theatre, Broadway and Sixty-fifth street, where green trading stamps are given at matinee performances.

Several good acts were seen at the Atlantic Garden.

Special holiday features at the Eden Mines are the Leipzig Orchestra, the Hill Sisters, Kaufman, the magician, and Vera, "the child Patti."

Mme. Valencita and her clogs of Hone and Krao, the Missing Link, are the features at Huber's Museum.

ROW MADE WOMAN ILL.

Dick Raised a Riot When He Wanted Money.

Because his wife, who is a nurse, would not give him money yesterday David Dick started to wreck the home of William Moore, at No. 185 West One Hundred and Second street, where Mrs.
Dick was employed. His performance so wrought up Mrs. Moore, who is an invalid, that she suffered an attack of apoplexy.

Dick was arranged in the West Side Police Court to-day and held in $300 bail for trial. In addition a fine of $10 for drunkenness was imposed.

Bloomington's---The Store That's Always Ready!

Last two days!
The hardest days of all for you!
The best test of a store's power to serve!
Now most people are filling gaps in their Christmas lists.
They've left the hardest questions until the eleventh hour, and so, after all, have to answer them most quickly.

Still, with Christmas stocks as complete as ever to draw on—With everything done that brains could evolve and money accomplish to make Christmas shopping easy—With augmented selling forces and deliveries, reinforced by helpers who know by experience what each is expected to do under every circumstance—
You will find shopping worries at Bloomington's reduced to a minimum.

And you may depend upon prices throughout every department, on staple merchandise as well as on goods known generally as gift things, remaining at the same unmatchably low mark that has kept Greater New York's Greatest Store talked about throughout this Christmas season.

Don't Forget— You Might Give Furniture!

"Gift Furniture" is displayed in great variety in the Furniture store on the fourth floor. Here are two specials for to-morrow:
This Morris Chair, $5.98. This Rocker, $2.50.
